Arrive on the 30th to step into 2027

Some people rush into New Year's Eve.
And some arrive on the 30th.

The 30th. Arrive a day early, with the Serra da Estrela at your window and the Dão still in silence. On arrival, a glass of local wine and a board of cheeses and cured meats: the first toast is on us, and it keeps no schedule. The afternoon is for dropping your bags, heading down to the Spa and letting the old year begin to slip away.

The 31st is all yours. In the morning, step into the indoor pool and glide, without leaving the water, to the outdoor one: your body at 30 degrees, your face in the cold December air, and the Serra da Estrela filling the horizon — on lucky days, with snow on its peaks. Steam rises from the water as if the mountain were breathing. Then a couples' massage at Puro Spa, a walk among the vines, a guilt-free nap. In the evening, the gala dinner at Tertúlia and, at midnight, fireworks over the vineyard. You enter 2027 in style — but with your soul already settled.

On the 1st, you wake up late. New Year's brunch is waiting, with hot dishes served until lunchtime, and the afternoon asks nothing of you: the pool again, or bed again. No one will judge.

This is when most people pack their bags. Don't.

The 2nd is the slowest day of the year. A morning on the balcony, wrapped in a blanket, with a glass of Dão warming in your hands and the mountain changing colour as the sun climbs. An afternoon by the fireplace, with the book you never got to in 2026 and the firewood crackling softly. In the early evening, the Bistrô Bar: small plates, a glass of wine, and that conversation you only have at the start of January — a look back at what was and, unhurried, at what's to come.

On Sunday you leave late, with one last swim behind you and your batteries recharged. With the rare feeling of having started the year on the right foot.

Arrive on the 30th. Stay until Sunday. The rest of the year will thank you.

Prefer to arrive on the 31st? There's a place at the table for you too. The Dão awaits — just with a little less time.
